The International Business Law Consortium (IBLC)

common sense	specialist expertise
local knowledge	global perspective
independent advice	concerted representation

Through the IBLC, its members cultivate legal knowledge and professional skills. They leverage this know how into far-reaching and far-sighted transnational capabilities, helping them serve a global community and deliver independent advice with effective, concerted transnational advocacy and representation.

IBLC membership is exclusive. Aspirants are vetted for impeccable reputation and people- and service-oriented professionalism.

While the IBLC admits only the most suitable firm in each city, members retain the independence to work with those who best serve their clients' needs and the public interest.

The CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL LEGAL STUDIES (CILS), a registered public interest non-profit for international legal research and education headquartered in Salzburg, Austria, established the IBLC in 1996 to help practitioners participate in CILS programs. IBLC members have built upon this to develop their own information exchange, networking and service optimisation initiatives.

CILS administrative and organisational resources (clerical, event management, marketing, law) are at the disposal of the IBLC, as a proprietary affiliate. CILS develops IBLC policy and supervises its activities in consultation with IBLC's elected Council.
